As a result, the course is pretty flat, with no major height changes, and plenty of water penalty areas throughout. There are six sets of tees ranging from 7028 to 5,371 yards, so players of all skill levels can choose the appropriate yards. Gold (average men's) tees 6,439 yards, and provide a lot of challenges. Tree coatings are quite rare on most holes. When we played, the rough was tall enough to cover any balls that left the fairway, making them hard to find. The fairways are conveniently wide, but perhaps because of the high water table, some are furrows that work through them, giving them the look of a washing board. The balls landing in these areas will leave you hard down or uphill lies. The greens are smooth and most of them with a certain slope, but without serious waves. Judge Judge Speed correctly, and every GIR becomes a birdie opportunity. The holes are a good variety of looks, both with right and left doglegs, long and short holes, and some very interesting par 3 holes. One of the most interesting holes is the dogleg left 390 yards on par 4 seventh. The pond guards the inner corner of the almost ninety degree dogleg. You can challenge the pond and be left with a short iron or medium iron to the hole or play safely by going right of the pond, but choosing a safe route can have an undesirable result if the tee shot is hit too well and goes through the fairway and into the rough or trees on the other side. Eleventh hole 408 yards par 4, which is pretty straight, but ponds to the right and left that are connected by a canal that cuts across the fairway about 250 yards from the golden tees. Stay in the fairway and you'll have a good chance of making par or better on the second hole handicap on the course. Par 5 13th hole 475 yards from golden tees. This dogleg left hole has water running across the fairway about 90 yards short of the green, giving you the choice on a second shot to go for it or lay up the preferred yards for a wedge or a short iron slightly elevated green. Everyone in our top four has played Dellwood before and everyone enjoyed the round, lamenting that as a private course we had little chance of playing here except for charity events or MGA tournaments. This is a fairly open and well-supported course. Windy days will affect the game here as there are plenty of wide fairway holes. It has some interesting details like railroad tracks. The facilities here are excellent and the club certainly has a long way to go over the last 5 years. You have to check it out. Either way, some of the holes I liked: the 3rd hole, with water hazard and 2-put par capability; 7th hole with a heavy dog on the left requiring a protected game; The 9th Hole has a water hazard off the tee and a small landing pad, followed by an elevated tee and a good view of the club; on the back I like the 13th and 17th holes that provide rewards for long hitters like me, although I survived only one of them! All in all, this is a great course for those looking for extra golf experience! Page 2 17512 courses 1016688 Avg reviews. Off-Course Amenities Avg. Value for Avg money. Staff Friendly Avg.
